Reformed and Refreshing

October 10th, 2021

Welcome to Covenant Baptist Church. We are a Reformed church committed to three things:

- The Exaltation of God

We desire that the people at Covenant truly understand who God is and His rightful place in their lives as their Lord and sovereign Savior.

- The Edification of the Saints

We consider it extremely important to correctly teach the Bible, verse by verse, so we can properly have the Holy Spirit apply it to our lives.

- The Evangelization of the Sinner

We understand that God has given us the responsibility to be stewards of the Gospel and that means sharing it exactly like God gave it to us with those who need Jesus.

Christmas is just around the corner and will be here before we know it. The Mission Team would like to try to raise the funds to give a gift to each of the Covenant orphans in Guntur, India. We had Pastor Prabhu and his wife, Leena, get prices to put clothes on each of the boys and girls that we have living in the 2 houses. The girls would receive a new dress, sweater, undergarments, socks, and shoes. The boys would receive a new shirt, pants, undergarments, socks, and shoes. With the uniforms that they received when they came in off the streets this would give them each 2 sets of clothing. The cost for each child would be $67.00, counting taxes. The total for all 21 boys and also the 20 girls is $2750.00. If you would like to help give these children a Christmas gift please mark envelopes or earmark checks 'Orphans' Christmas.' —

Book of the Week: Evangelicalism Divided, by Iain Murray

Why has Christian unity proved to be such a divisive topic? In the 1950s two movements- evangelicalism and ecumenism- offered differing paths to unity in the church. But as the decades have passed the influence of ecumenism has exposed a fault line in evangelicalism. Questions of critical importance have been brought to the surface: Is the gospel broader than evangelicals have historically insisted? Can there be unity with non-evangelicals in evangelism and church leadership? Does the gospel have priority over denominational loyalty?... Evangelicalism Divided traces the fascinating saga of the personalities, institutions and publications involved in this fifty-year period. Iain Murray's account is not simply a black and white narrative. But using the mass of sources now available he shows how the new policy involved concessions which seriously weakened biblical Christianity. The first and greatest need, he argues, is to answer the most fundamental and divisive question of all: What is a Christian?

Two Habits of Successful Parents

—by Tim Challies

Chap Bettis recently wrote about a phenomenon he has observed in today's young parents—one Aileen and I have often discussed as well. "Many parents are reluctant and even resistant to asking advice about their parenting. While others can see blind spots, the parents themselves remain... blind to them." That is one side of the equation—young parents aren't asking seasoned parents for input or assistance.

The other side of the equation is that seasoned parents are reluctant to address concerns or offer assistance, even when they see those significant blind spots. This must not be a new phenomenon since many years ago J.C. Ryle said, "I would rather correct a man about anything than his parenting." Older parents who have experience to draw upon and counsel to offer are loathe to speak up without invitation. And the invitations rarely come.

Bettis and a friend offer a number of possible explanations, especially as they pertain to parents failing to seek counsel in the area of corrective discipline. But I've got some conjecture of my own. I would like to offer an explanation related to the fact that today's parents are the first generation to have grown up and then begun to raise their children in a fully digital world.

Ontario doctor resigns over forced vaccines, says 80% of ER patients with mysterious issues had both shots

—by Kennedy Hall

OWEN SOUND, Ontario (LifeSiteNews) – Dr. Rochagné Kilian recently resigned as an emergency room and family practice physician due to her concerns that the Ontario health system and Grey Bruce Health Services (GBHS) crossed ethical lines throughout the pandemic.

In a virtual meeting that included GBHS CEO Gary Sims and other staff members, Dr. Kilian asked Sims a series of questions about what she believes is unethical behaviour on behalf of the Ontario health system at all levels. Sims appeared to be unprepared for difficult questions pertaining to the ongoing rollout of vaccination mandates and vaccine segregation restrictions the Ontario health system is championing.

Kilian estimated that 80 percent of the patients she saw in the ER during the past month who had inexplicable symptoms were “double vaxxed.”

Dr. Kilian relocated to Owen Sound – a small city in Grey County, Ontario – from South Africa after previously working in British Columbia. When she resettled in

Owen Sound with her family, she expressed to a local paper how happy she was to live there: “Our recruitment to Owen Sound might have been by chance, but our choice to settle here was definitely not. Our four months in Owen Sound have been blessed. A little town with lots of soul, surrounded by beautiful landscapes, filled with welcoming residents and businesses, and exciting festivals, programs and activities. We truly feel fortunate to raise a family here.”

Please Note:

While Covenant Baptist believes that Roman Catholicism is not true Christianity, but a dangerous and deceptive cult, the pastor considers this article worthy of notice because it addresses a subject which affects the church.

However, it may not make the same distinction between Catholics and Christians.
